The Stroock Sovereign Wealth Forum provides an opportunity for conversation and reflection among global sovereign wealth fund leadership on issues important to a crucial sector of the global savings pool.

- Has the evolving global economy altered the underlying rationales for which sovereigns have accumulated wealth funds?
- How large should a SWF be relative to the size of population, the fundamentals of the economy and the role expected of the fund?
- Who is ultimately responsible for the design, governance, and management of a SWF?
- Have changing conditions altered long-term return and volatility expectations?
